

POLITICAL BORES CORRECTLY ILLUSTRATED IN POETRY

Something About Dead Man Indicted for Sunday Violation--Saturday Night's Meeting--Registration Books Closed Until Saturday.

There's the man who lets you shake his limpy hand--
He's a bore.
And the man who for reform claims to stand--
Get his score.
There's the man who has a fear
That the county is, year by year,
Growing worse--perhaps he's near!
Boil the door.

There's the rag--its news by greased wire quite antique;
It's a bore.
And the chap who says politics cuts no ice this year.
Ain't he sore?
There's the demagogue who has a knife
For the republican party's life--
If you think he's on your trail
Boil the door.

There's the man of little head who talks reform--
He's a bore.
He's on the anti-tick, minus all platform--
Worse and more!
There's the man tells the tale
That a year ago was stale--
Like as not he's out of jail,
Boil the door.

The Socorro Chieftain says: Hon. W. B. Childers is the regular republican nominee for the council from the Albuquerque district and will doubtless be elected. If ability and familiarity with the conditions existing in the territory count for anything, Mr. Childers will be one of the most valuable members of the next legislative assembly.

It was announced this morning that Alfred Grunfeld, who is a candidate on the fusion ticket for assessor, had resigned his position as bookkeeper at Cousin Alfred's store, so confident was he of being elected. On investigation by a citizen representative, it was discovered that Mr. Grunfeld is not confident of success, and in his own language, "don't know anything about the election." He says he will put a "sub" on his books, and commence button-holing the "dear people" at once. This will insure the election of George F. Albright by a big majority.

The books for election registration closed last Saturday, and will not be reopened until the coming Saturday, when they will remain open during the day to receive names not already registered. During this week the members of the city boards of registration will meet and copy names from the original and old lists, striking off the names of those not entitled to vote in the city, and the prepared lists will be hung out at both registration places ten days before election for inspection, revision and correction should it become necessary.

The voice of the people who howled against the injustice done by the county commissioners in appointing three candidates on the fusion ticket as members of the board of registration of precinct 12, has been heard, and at the last moment Cousin Alfred accepted the resignations of Candidate Sigfried Grunfeld and Johnny S. Beaven and appointed in their stead J. B. McManus and J. E. Elder. The third candidate, B. Ruppel, did not send in his resignation, and thus, contrary to the indignation of the voters of this precinct, remains on the board of registration.

The Industrial Advertiser says: "Carlos P. Sanchez is closely identified with the Hubbell system of politics. His defeat will best subserve the interests of the people of the county." The Advertiser is as reliable as the Morning Journal and Mr. Field. This reminds us of the late grand jury report which says "only one man had violated the Sunday law and he was dead." Carlos P. Sanchez died about a year ago. He was the man that Governor Otero appointed commissioner when it was decided that Severo Sanchez was not a legal incumbent of the office. Carlos Sanchez was a so-called reformer, after the Perfecto Armijo stripe. It is sad to have the Clancy grand jury and the Advertiser investigating and indicting people after they are dead. That suggests another inquiry as to Mr. Clancy. If Frank Hubbell should die "would Othello's occupation be gone?"

Saturday evening at the Elks' opera house, Hon. Neil B. Field and Hon. George S. Klock made addresses in behalf of the fusion ticket. Attorney Marron, the "boss" of the democratic party and he is a real boss because he only wanted one candidate on the fusion ticket and that was for treasurer and collector, although the rank and file of that party insisted on more candidates, presided at the meeting.

BUSY SUNDAY FOR THE METHODISTS

Sermons by Bishop Moore to English and Spanish Congregations.

SERVICES IN OLD TOWN

Rev. Thomas Harwood Addresses His Comrades of Grand Army at Methodist Church.

The proceedings of the Spanish Mission conference for Saturday were full of interest. The several committees gave their reports and Bishop Moore was pleased to see the promptness with which they had been prepared and the thoroughness of the ground covered. Rev. Wm. W. Havens of the Dakota conference was admitted as an effective elder in this conference and his name now appears in the list of appointments as superintendent of the New Mexico-Arizona Anti-Saloon League. The brethren call him the "baby" of the New Mexico Spanish Mission conference. At about noon Saturday the conference stood in front of the church for their picture. The session in the afternoon was mostly taken up in hearing the report of the statistics committee, which showed notable progress in nearly all lines of work in the mission. After this the committee on resolutions gave its report, which will later appear in the city papers. Then came the appointments. It has been said that the Methodist conference is something like a honey bee that it has its sting in its tail, but there was no sting in the reading of the appointments that was felt or at least nothing was said to intimate anything of the kind. They were real appointments and not disappointments.

Reception for Bishop and Members. At 5:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon the conference attended a very pleasant reception given at the Harwood home by the lady superintendent and teachers of that institution. It was well enjoyed. Speeches were made by several preachers and other clergymen. Songs were sung in English and Spanish, among the Spanish being "The Holy City," rendered by Rev. T. M. Harwood, and translated by him into the Spanish language.

Sunday morning Bishop Moore preached a fine sermon at the First Methodist Episcopal church in English to a crowded house. The discourse was well rendered and enjoyed very much by all present. At the old town church Spanish services were held also in the morning. This was the annual conference love feast, which proved to be a delightful occasion. The attendance was large.

In the afternoon at 2 o'clock memorial services were held and these were followed by preaching services by the bishop through Rev. T. M. Harwood as interpreter. At this service three persons were received into the church in full connection. The bishop spoke with much force and feeling and the large congregation in the old town Spanish Bowman chapel listened with intense interest. After the sermon Rev. Juan C. Chavez of Dona Ana and Rev. J. B. Flores of Hillsboro were ordained to elder orders by the bishop and elders present.

The well filled program of Sunday was supplemented on Sunday evening at the Lead Avenue church with an exceedingly interesting sermon by the venerable Rev. Thomas Harwood, D. D., who took for his subject, "My Fifty Years in the Ministry." The large audience present, including the members of the Grand Army, who attended the services in a body, listened throughout to their old comrade and territorial chaplain with great interest.

The proceedings of the New Mexico Spanish Mission conference ended with the meetings of yesterday. Bishop Moore, however, still remains and will this evening deliver at the Lead Avenue church his famous lecture on "Chemulpo, or What An American Saw in the First Great Naval Battle of the Russo-Japanese War." The reputation of Bishop Moore as a speaker, together with his large experience in oriental countries and waters, assures for him a large and appreciative audience.
